

FRONTLINE TO FINISH LINE.

Major David Rozelle, a below-knee amputee, is an icon, resource and inspirational figure for American service members injured in recent conflicts.

While in Iraq, commanding 140 troops of the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment, Dave lost part of his right leg when a landmine exploded under his Humvee.

When Dave was evacuated home, he began a year-long rehabilitation process. Within eight months he participated in his first triathlon, completing the CAF San Diego Triathlon Challenge in 2004, and became a proud CAF supporter. A year to the day from his injury, Dave once again assumed command of his unit and deployed to Iraq, becoming the first service member to return to a combat zone as a commander in modern times.

Dave was the inspiration behind CAF Operation Rebound and serves as a role model and mentor for the program. He represented CAF at the Ford Ironman Coeur d'Alene and was recognized with the Ford Ironman Everyday Hero Award. Afterwards, Dave was driven to conquer the 2006 Ironman Triathlon World Championship in Kona. In Hawaii he improved his time by more than an hour, finishing in 12:46:26.

Dave remains on active duty and continues to inspire other injured service members to find and use the healing power of sports.

The generosity of supporters like you continues to provide Dave and other injured service members opportunities to heal through sports.
